Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food.

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all the same foods upon all the children. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constitute the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what it quickly digests.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be used on children. The best of these is Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation.

It is a common error that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation. Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patterson, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is a mother of five children.

RALPH M. PATTEN.

Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth, but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Oakland Public Library Repair Department Most Important Branch

More than 8000 books this year were patients at the "book hospital" at the Oakland public library, according to the figures compiled by the librarian this month. These, besides the many booklets, periodicals and magazines bound and repaired, are the sum total of the year's work of the least known and most important branch of the library, where every torn book is patched together again, rebound if necessary, and turned out again as good—for all practical purposes—as new.

"The book hospital" is the nickname of the library's repair department, in the rear of the building behind the periodical room. Few ever see the department or know the work that is done there. Here Mrs. E. Slattery and a corps of assistants, headed by Miss M. Spillman, take the books as they are sent from the library shelves and repair them with a piece of court plaster here, a dab of glue or paste there, or a few stitches of thread or wire as the case may indicate.

Mrs. Slattery, chief book surgeon, is an adept at the art of restoring books. Many a volume, to all appearances far past any usefulness and seemingly fit only for the fire, has been revived, pasted, bound, covered, leaves replaced and finally has been turned out from the "hospital" to the book shelves again, ready for another year of strenuous circulation.

"It is wonderful how many books are damaged," declares Mrs. Slattery. "People take a book, throw it about and send it back with a few dents or a broken back. The next patron adds to the damage, perhaps a baby tears a leaf, and after six or seven such trips it gets down here and twenty minutes' work is required to put it in readable shape again."

The repair department employs two workers steadily at the main library and two workers in branch libraries. These latter are Miss Belle Pratt and Miss Margaret Griffin.

Besides the repair of books the department binds all periodicals for filing and circulation in the library.

Lazare prison told her she was to be put in a cell.

M. Joseph Caillaux, minister of finance, whose wife yesterday assassinated Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro, appeared today at the ministry of finance in order to dispose of several urgent affairs of department business. He called into his private office several of the higher officials of the ministry and informed them of his resignation. The minister was extremely depressed. He broke down during his interview with the officials and wept like a child. His colleagues quietly withdrew and left him alone. When he had become more composed he proceeded to his residence. Because of the hostile demonstrations by street crowds several detectives were assigned to protect the minister.

M. Caillaux's resignation was made necessary by his wife's assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of Figaro. Although Calmette was considered the strongest and most influential member of the cabinet, his colleagues determined to accept his resignation and to reorganize the various portfolios.

RENOULT FOR MINISTER. Rene Renault, hitherto minister of the interior, will become minister of finance. Louis J. Malvy minister of commerce, was about to publish these letters and it was this that led her to the attack on him. Calmette was a bitter political foe of Caillaux.

The chamber of deputies opened with only fifteen members in their seats. Some hundreds of others spent their time in the lobbies and committee rooms discussing the situation brought about by the assassination of M. Calmette. Although it was regarded as illogical to hold the cabinet of Mme. Caillaux, yet the opportunity was seized by opponents of the cabinet to denounce M. Caillaux and his associates.

FEAR AN ATTACK. The adherents of the government were somewhat disorganized and displayed a sentiment of diminished confidence as to the ministry being able nervous troubles, poor blood, kidney and liver complaints, malaria, neuralgia, trembling and loss of appetite. They never fail to end constipation. Get them at The Owl Drug Co. and dealers everywhere for 50 cents. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by Wendell's Ambition Pills is all you need.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY IS OBSERVED

This morning and were determined to do all the things they could place in their power, which they were successful in doing. Graciously the tapers approached the shoppers, who gladly paid for the shamrock. Many dealers more than the stimulated amount of the day and in a short time the shamrock was sold in every part of the city.

WILLING TO BE TAGGED. The philanthropy of Oakland was manifest throughout the day. Thousands were willing to be tagged and hundreds of children were tagged. The children were tagged in the street and in the stores. They were pleased to have the opportunity to subscribe to tag the children. They smiled as though the shade of dear old St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, was looking down upon them.

Throughout the entire day the feeling of goodwill was manifested everywhere. The children and those tagged were happy. There and there the tags were pinned. The shamrock was sold in every part of the city.

ST. PATRICK BORN 1541 YEARS AGO; IRISH HONOR DAY

Fifteen hundred and forty-one years ago today, or perhaps tomorrow, the good St. Patrick was born and Irishmen throughout the civilized world observed the day in honor of their patron saint. That St. Patrick was a real man and that he did many of the remarkable things attributed to him is clearly established, but little about his real life is known. He was born about midnight, between March 17 and 18, 373 A. D. Whether it was the 17th or the 18th has been a matter of dispute but the Roman Catholic church settled the matter by declaring March 17 to be St. Patrick's Day.

The birthplace of St. Patrick is also a matter of dispute. The majority of students hold that the saint was born in Mayo. The most reliable accounts have it that St. Patrick was sold into slavery in Ireland when a boy. He managed to escape and went to the Continent, where he acquired an education. He then returned to Ireland as a missionary. Whether or not it was St. Patrick who drove all the snakes and frogs and lizards out of Ireland, which is the most popular legend related of the good saint, the fact remains that there is not a reptile or amphibian on the "ould sod."

Masses in Church. This evening there will be a special service at the Catholic churches. The service will be held at 7 o'clock. The service will be held at 7 o'clock. The service will be held at 7 o'clock.

Partisanship filled the Catholic churches this morning at the early masses, when sermons were preached by the clergymen and the sacred music was furnished by augmented choirs and soloists. Addresses touching upon the life of St. Patrick interested large congregations. Today the anniversary of the birth of St. Patrick was universally celebrated.

This evening there will be an entertainment given at the St. Patrick's church auditorium. Tenth and Perilla streets, where one-act sketches and a farce will be presented. The box and seats of St. Joseph's parochial school will contribute the opening number, entitled "Hymn to the Virgin Mary." The evening an orchestra will give a program of Irish and Irish airs. The auditorium will be open to the public.

NO WOMEN IN PARADE. NEW YORK, March 17.—Applications of women's organizations to take part in today's parade in honor of St. Patrick were refused by the celebration committee. While no explanation was given for barring women from the parade, the committee made it plain that the rule applied to suffragists, many of whom had arranged to march.

The parade was made up of forty bands and 100 patriotic, benevolent and social organizations, besides sixty divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. In all 20,000 men passed the reviewing stand.

CHICAGO, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was observed by Irish-Americans here with appropriate ceremony today despite a cold rain. A set of jowls from Dublin, the opening of the principal celebration at the Coliseum, where hundreds of shamrock were provided for 15,000 persons.

What Thin Folks Should Do to Gain Weight

Physician's Advice For Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resist their nerves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strengthening, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians, and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol would produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained.

Additional facts that thin people need are provided. Osceola Bros. drug store and other leading druggists supply Sargol and there is a large demand for it.

The new preparation has given results as a nerve-tonic and vigor-giver. It should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

DIGGS RELEASED; AWAITING TRIAL

Gilligan Will Probably Be Out in a Few Days, Says Attorney.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Maury I. Diggs enjoyed his liberty today after spending more than a month and a half in jail in this city. He was arrested on February 1 on the complaint of Ida Pearson, 37-year-old daughter of Dr. M. J. Pearson, sworn out on January 20 and he is now awaiting trial before Superior Judge Cabanis. Attorney Marshall Woodworth, one of Diggs' attorneys, stated today that Walter J. Gilligan, a salesman, jointly accused with him, would probably be liberated before the end of the week at the latest. "We may get Gilligan out today or tomorrow," said Woodworth, "but we will certainly have him released this week. His friends in the east have come to his aid, and are putting up money for him." The appeal to the circuit court taken by Diggs and Drew Caminetti, son of the commissioner-general of immigration, will be heard next month. Both are under sentence to San Quentin and are at liberty on $25,000 bail. Paul A. Spott, the Oakland plumber, accused of criminal assault by Ida Pearson, appeared before Superior Judge Lawlor today and was arraigned. His counsel asked for a continuance and was allowed until Friday to plead. Spott is alleged to have attacked Miss Pearson on New Year's day after she had been out on the city's eve revel with Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, and Walter J. Gilligan.

Prodigal Spirit of U. S. Cities Imbues Contempt for Thrift

CHICAGO, March 17.—The prodigal spirit has imbued American cities with a contempt for thrift, according to a statement of the American Society for Thrift last night in which the society announced its failure to induce municipalities to compete for honors as the thriftiest city in the United States. "There seems to be a vague indifference or contempt for thrift prevalent among municipal officers," the report reads. "The prodigal spirit prevails." Of the cities which competed Davenport, Ia., reported the largest average per capita bank deposit, $601.01, and Oil City, Pa., led in the per capita of stock and bond investment with an average per capita of $645.65.

FAMOUS ADVERTISERS BANQUETED BY BRADFORD

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—In recognition of his thirty years' association with business, N. W. Ayer & Son, advertising agents, Saturday night dined Albert G. Bradford, member and financial manager of the firm. No one man connected with advertising is more widely and favorably known to publishers or who has been more closely identified with great achievements of modern publicity than Mr. Bradford. He has under his immediate direction the disbursing of immense sums for advertising space. It has been conservatively estimated that N. W. Ayer & Son have paid American publishers over $75,000,000. Bradford's association with N. W. Ayer & Son began in 1884 as a bookkeeper. In 1898 he was made a member of the firm, which then consisted of F. Wayland Ayer and Henry N. McKim. The dinner Saturday night was largely an "Ayer family" affair, over 270 present and past employees being present. Several addresses were made, Mr. Ayer paying Mr. Bradford a particularly interesting tribute. During the evening S. Wilbur Corman, general manager of N. W. Ayer & Son, presented Bradford with a magnificent grandfather's clock.

Says Young Students Are Best Scholars

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 17.—The policy of parents in holding back at school boys of 16 or 17 years, on the theory that they are too young to be exposed to the temptations of college life, is a mistake, President Lowell of Harvard University said in his annual report issued last night. "The students who enter young are, on the average, better scholars and better in conduct than the older ones," he said. "The ordinary man who enters later than the normal has less impulse for study, while he often seeks pleasures more highly spiced and less innocent."

Check the Symptoms of Lung Trouble

One of the many reasons why Lung Trouble is so difficult to fight is because the disease is often of a very insidious nature. The patient may look well, but in reality is fast losing strength by continued night sweats, fever and cough. These symptoms should be checked as quickly as possible. Eckman's Alternative is beneficial in checking fever and night sweats and it has brought about many complete recoveries. Read this case: 805 W. 26th St., New York. "Gentlemen:—I am writing you this testimonial that others may know what your Alternative has done for me. Since I was a very young woman I was a sufferer from Bronchitis. I tried doctor after doctor, getting little or no benefit. Finally I had night sweats, weak spells and lost rapidly in weight and my doctor told me if they were not checked I would have Lung Trouble. Miss Mary Korhammer, who is a friend of mine, recovered after taking your Alternative and insisted that I try it. I am now, after two years, perfectly well, strong and healthy." (Above abbreviated, more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons, or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Company and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence. —Advertisement.

DOCTOR GOODSPEED DON'TS FOR WOMEN

Pastor Has Ten Commandments That He Believes Should Be Observed.

Observe, ladies, and take notice good and true! Rev. F. L. Goodspeed has revised his version of what the Ten Commandments ought to be for you, and if you own them it's going to knock all your little foibles and fads into a cocked hat! Rev. Goodspeed, at his sermon in the First Presbyterian Church, has announced a new decalogue, "for women only." Here man doesn't go to bridge parties or wear silk skirts, so they can hardly apply to him. Here are the new commandments: "Thou shalt not marry for revenue only, nor for fear of being an old maid; it is better for thee to remain single all thy days than to make matrimony a matter of money, or to be a mere plaything. "After marriage thou shalt not so far forget thy personal appearance as to greet thy husband clad in an old wrapper or with bare ankles, or with slippers run down at the heels, for not so was thy appearance when thy husband chose thee as his companion for life. "Thou shalt not become a fashion plate, nor make of thyself a spectacle to the gazing crowd, nor dress so as to furnish jokes for the comic papers, thus causing thy husband or thy son or thy brother to blush for thee, for it is worse for thee to be vulgar than out of vogue. "Thou shalt not leave the children to the tender mercies of thy neighbors, or to run wild on the streets, even to attend the missionary meeting, to make California dry. "Thou shalt not be jealous of thy neighbor if she rides in a trolley car, for it is better to ride on a trolley car than in an automobile, and a mortgage on thy home, and many women who ride on the trolley car are happy, wise and respectable. "Thou shalt not drink wine and beer by serving liquor at thy social functions, even if thou callest it punch, and it saves thee entrance into the elect ranks of the four hundred. "DON'T FIND FAULT. "Thou shalt not make thy home a place of complaining and fault-finding, lest thy husband acquire the habit of thinking that every evening is lodge night, and thy sons and daughters wander long away from home, and thy friends fail to return thy social calls, and thy advertisement for help be in the papers continually. "Thou shalt not spell home in any new way, not call it 'home' or 'matrimony' with alimony."

"Thou shalt not forget thy Bible and thy God, and thy attendance at church shall not be a matter of convenience or bareness, for such Christ the poor mothers, while they serve the Lord are blessed even to a thousand generations.

SEND CANDIDATES TEN COMMANDMENTS

Chicago Women Party Prepare Rules for Aldermen

CHICAGO, March 17.—Then commandments to Chicago aldermanic candidates have been prepared by the women's party of Cook county and will be sent to each candidate before the aldermanic election in April. It was announced today. These are the commandments:

- "Thou shalt not be the tool of any special interest."
- "Thou shalt not set the party above the people."
- "Thou shalt hearken to the cry for clean milk."
- "Thou shalt not forget the death rate of babies in thy ward."

- "When special and powerful interests to thee."
- "Thou shalt not have an office connected with a saloon."

New Peruvian President Appeals for Co-operation

LIMA, Peru, Mar. 17.—Robert E. Leguia, first vice-president of the republic, returned to Lima last night from a trip to Europe. The police at Callao, where he landed, prohibited any demonstrations. Arriving in the capital, the vice-president proceeded to his apartment in the palace. Later at a concert in the palace, Leguia delivered an address in which he declared that in assuming the presidency of the republic made vacant recently through the exile of President Billinghurst, he would make no divisions in the political parties. He added that he desired the sympathy and co-operation of everyone in the republic.

"THE OAKLAND" TO RUN ON AEROPLANE FERRY

"The Oakland" will be the name of the first aeroplane to carry passengers across the bay in an aerial ferry. This was the announcement made last night by the Commercial Union of Commerce today in connection with the proposed aerial ferry from Oakland to the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds. William B. Cooke, the Oakland aviator, is behind the move, and will pilot the ship. The carrying of passengers by aeroplanes has been demonstrated in many places and Cooke proposes to give it practical application in carrying passengers between Oakland, San Francisco and the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds. He has already made application to the Panama-Pacific Exposition people for an exclusive franchise and entered into negotiations with the municipal authorities of San Francisco and of Oakland for landing places. The Oakland terminal will probably be in the vicinity of First street and Broadway, and Mr. Cooke has already made application to the city authorities for a grant of space for terminal station in Oakland.

CHINESE STUDENT TO BE AMONG DEBATORS

Frank Sun, a fourteen-year-old Chinese student of the Lincoln grammar school of this city, will be the first to take part in the debate to be held Friday afternoon in the eighth grade, when the subject, "Reformations," will be discussed. He has been selected to represent the Chinese. The young oriental debater speaks English fluently and is devoted to his studies. He has already been extensively upon the lines of the debate and is prepared to meet his opponents. He will speak for the reformation side, which will be opposed by the Lincoln students. The debate will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Lincoln grammar school.

Acute Articular Rheumatism Relieved by Anti-Kamnia Tablets

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In the treatment of rheumatism, however, there are a few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the most satisfactory results; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians, however, agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system. Dr. W. S. Schultz expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-Kamnia Tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in the treatment of neuralgia and all pains. Ask for A-K Tablets.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look Years Younger! Use the Oldtime Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight by using the famous "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug-store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it dyes the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggy and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become as black and beautiful as all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray, faded, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

HOUSING DIFFERS FROM THE PLANNING

Comprehensive Idea Necessary to Betterment of Cities, Declares Expert.

CITY PLANNING AIM AND PROCEDURE.

City planning is the name given to the science and the art of providing for the most practical and desirable development of a city or town.

It would prevent the recurrence in newer districts of the mistakes of the older.

It would profit by that which time has proved worth while in the experience of any city.

It would diagnose the troubles of a community from all points of view—social, political, economical, esthetic.

It would prescribe the remedy best suited to the particular needs of the case, with a view also to preserving the individuality of the community.

It would determine the relative urgency of the various needs, and plan a consistent program of procedure covering every phase of the subject.

It would concentrate on these matters in turn and get concrete results. GEORGE B. FORD.

(By GEORGE B. FORD.)

There is general misunderstanding as to the relation between housing and city planning. On one hand, a few of the many city planning commissions throughout the country have recognized that a full consideration of housing is necessary in working out a comprehensive city plan. On the other hand, few of the housing reform committees have realized that they had something to gain from city planning.

City planning in its accepted sense has to do with the physical betterment of the community. The object of city planning is to make the community a better place in which to live and work. Of these three, the idea of making the city a better place in which to live is obviously the most important.

Housing has to do with that which affects living conditions, and both housing and city planning treat of the replacement of old areas and the laying out of new districts.

TEARING AND REBUILDING.

The tearing down and rebuilding of especially bad slum districts, for instance, calls for an entire new street system in those districts, and also the rearing of part of the area for a park playground, as in the case of the Lexington street area in Liverpool or the Strand development in London. This is, of course, city planning; yet the handling of the entire district is not the most important factor in the work of the city planner and the person who is interested in housing.

In laying out of new districts, housing and city planning are much more vitally connected, because from three-quarters to nine-tenths of such land is used for housing.

If there is any one thing that the enormous advance in civic betterment has given to the cities, it is the belief in the right to control their own destiny, to insist that they shall develop and grow along the lines which are to the best interests of the city as a whole and not the individual property owner's happen to wish. City planning insists that the new portions of the city be laid out with the same foresight that any competent business man displays in developing his own plant. City planning would avoid in the future growth of the city the mistakes of the past.

NEW DISTRICT.

In planning a development for a new district we must always bear in mind the individuality of the community and its right to control their own destiny, to insist that they shall develop and grow along the lines which are to the best interests of the city as a whole and not the individual property owner's happen to wish. City planning insists that the new portions of the city be laid out with the same foresight that any competent business man displays in developing his own plant. City planning would avoid in the future growth of the city the mistakes of the past.

Oakland Should Be Preparing

What are we going to do to get the visitors who will come to the Panama-Pacific Exposition next year to see Oakland? This is a question we should be answering right now.

There will be not less than 10,000,000 visitors, say the experienced railroad traffic men.

Now, then, we do not want either a small part or a large part of those millions to see Oakland. We want them all—everybody and his wife and the family and Uncle Ephraim and Aunt Tabitha and the cat.

There is one unfortunate thing which can't be helped. The trains, naturally, do not run through the beautiful business or residence districts. Eastern folks coming to San Francisco on the overlands get a bad impression of Oakland's looks, or of what they think are Oakland's looks. They don't see Oakland at all. They land in San Francisco at the foot of the principal street and look at once up the long vista of Market at the best San Francisco has in the way of business architecture.

Unless these travelers do come over here by ferry and electric car transportation through the real Oakland, the busy Oakland, the beautiful Oakland, they go away from California thinking that Oakland is a city of frame shacks, village shops and marshes and tide-flats. They would be utterly amazed and probably incredulous if told afterwards that the stores of Oakland were equal in beauty and size to the stores of San Francisco; that the residence districts are handsomer than those of Los Angeles; that in the heart of the city lies a wonderful salt water lake; that from its terraced and adorned hillsides is seen the finest natural panorama in the United States and that they could have ridden for miles over the lines of a street car system as good as there is and through streets which are not surpassed by those of any city, far or near.

Now, to our mind, the problem of first importance is to prepare invitations and allurements that will bring every last one of next year's visitors to Oakland for at least one day. We must see to it that they see Oakland.

There should be not only volunteer committees and committees of civic organizations at work on this problem. There should be men paid to give all their time to it from now until the end of 1915. They should be men experienced in this line, the best men that search can find out and money bring here. And they should be backed up by liberal contributions from private purses and the public treasury.

We shall not attempt to suggest methods of invitation and welcome. We are not equal to that task. But we do suggest and we urge that the matter be taken up at once and on a big scale and that definite plans be made and the work of carrying them out be begun as soon as possible this year. It will be too late next year.

It takes months to prepare properly for a single week's entertainment, such as the Veiled Prophets, the Mardi Gras and other famous carnival events. But we must prepare not simply the parades and floats and fireworks of a day or a week. We must prepare for an organized entertainment reaching over a whole year. We must issue invitations and play the hosts fifty-two weeks in a row.

Theories Versus the Taxpayer.

A creditable exhibit of plans for betterments in cities has been shown in the council rooms of the city hall. The ideas of municipalities are there, suggestions for civic centers, handling of street traffic and all manner of methods for making of spotless towns. The city theoretical is one of the sweetest, daintiest spots on earth. But the city practical, while not so immaculate, is better.

Why not get down to common sense in handling affairs of cities? It is a natural question following the proposals for beautifications. Our taxpayers might make of Oakland the paradise of the Pacific—if they had the money. They could build concrete retaining walls in the mud flats at Eighth street and fill in the bay as far west as Goat Island. They could do all of these things on paper.

How often has the reader seen the marvelous reconstruction of New York, the taking of the hub out of Boston, and the unspanning of the geometrical wonders of Washington? The world has seen San Francisco made and remade and spread out like a cobweb and fashioned like a checker-board. Alameda has been a new town from time to time, and Berkeley has dreamed like all the rest of us.

What a city needs to plan is practical construction along the lines of least resistance and not rub Aladdin's lamp. Good streets, good sewers, reasonable taxes. If Oakland or any other city of the bay can reach this happy medium between the practical and visionary, it may make, in time, and maintain a perfect little cosmos of its own.

Proof of the Pudding, Etc.

Decision of the Oakland and San Francisco Terminal Railway to build a new station in this city and maintain in it the principal offices of the company is only one step toward the betterment of railroad service here. Oakland should fully realize the importance of the changes in the company's service and many of us do, for the new management seems to be imbued with the right sort of spirit of progress. There has been a noticeable sprucing up in the manner of conducting the passenger traffic of the company's lines, and this is gratifying. There is room for improvement, but the new hands at the helm have not yet had full opportunity to show what they can do.

The change in management of the Terminal Company's lines shows indication of the intense interest that Eastern capitalists are taking in this city. When a great financial combination takes up millions of dollars in property in a city the size of Oakland, and announces that it will spend millions more in improvements, there is good reason to believe that men who have money to invest consider this side of the bay a pretty good place to do business.

Fun in Street-Car Riding.

If you really want to enjoy one of these beautiful days, take a long street car ride. Choose a time when cars are not crowded. Avoid your usual route. Ride through Berkeley, Piedmont, East Oakland, Fruitvale, Melrose, Alameda—any one or all of them.

Street car riding is one of the finest amusements in the world, if you just learn how to enjoy it. It's almost as enjoyable as automobiling and ever so much cheaper. Don't start to go anywhere. Just hop on the first car that passes. Ride as far as you like and hop off that car and hop on another going somewhere else. The less notion you have of where you are or where you are going, the more fun you will have.

Try the game the next time you have a day off. It's bully. Ride through the suburbs and see the lovely trees in blossom, and daffodils and roses and geraniums and nasturtiums, and all the sweet flowers of early March blooming in dooryards and gardens. You can go miles and miles for a few cents, through the most charming scenes in the world.

We trust it will be some time before either Mr. Murray or Senator Chamberlain feels it imperatively necessary to turn over another Page.

Not All of Us Were Dense.

The English newspapers are having a lot of fun over the serious manner in which Senator Chamberlain took the remarks of Ambassador Page. They make the point that it is the habit of Americans to accuse Englishmen of being unable to perceive a joke, and naturally rejoice over the inability of some American Senators and some American newspapers to see that Ambassador Page was slyly "kidding" his English hearers.

Well, there isn't a doubt that the point is well taken. But we object to this obtuseness and lack of sense of humor being charged to the American people. One United States Senator and eight or ten editors do not make up the whole people of this country. To be exact, there are 99,876,912 others of us, and we were all grinning over the exhibition of Senatorial and journalistic denseness ourselves.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the proposed cruise of the naval collier Jupiter, that will make the trip from Mare Island navy yard, through the straits of Magellan, to Norfolk, Va. The Jupiter will test electrically operated machinery, whose motors are driven by engines burning fuel oil. While there is no apparent reason to doubt that the trip will be a success, yet there is an element of doubt as to the stability of the class of engines that the Jupiter is equipped with, and the long sea test will set at rest for all time the question of their efficacy.

Winning With a Handicap.

Louis Sepulveda, catcher of the San Francisco club, is the son of a very rich father. And Luis and Father Sepulveda and all the rest of the Sepulveda family are on the most affectionate terms. The young man could be a really distinguished loafer, if he so desired. Instead he plays professional ball, and plays the game hard.

We rather like this Sepulveda boy. There is evidently good leather in him. It is hard to be a rich man's son and amount to much. Almost any chap who has to work his way through life gets somewhere, if he is reasonably industrious and fairly intelligent. But a rich man's son is terribly handicapped, and deserves all kinds of credit if he makes good.

And this is no joke, either, we will add for the benefit of Senator Chamberlain of Oregon.

A new factor has entered into the history of waterfront litigation and relates to the ownership of a tract of waterfront property on the southern shore of Carquinez straits at Port Costa, the title to which is owned by Justice Stephen J. Mizner a Benicia attorney and Paul Shirley of Martinez were jointly interested in a ferry plying across Carquinez straits from one town to the other on Sundays and holidays during the picnic season the ferryboat was specially employed to carry parties.

RULES FOR AUTOISTS

"Road Hogs" is an expression met frequently all over this country, and by its users means a variety of things. There is the road hog who insists on skimming along at dangerous speed; the road hog who refuses to let you pass or give any of the road when you meet him, and the man who turns the wrong way when you meet or try to pass him. Of all these the last mentioned is certainly the most dangerous. You swear at the man who gets you in a narrow place behind his walking team and then refuses to give an inch, while you grind along on low and eat his dust, and you try to see how close you can come to the man who knows his team is not afraid, so holds the middle of the road and lets you get past in the ditch as best you may. But these men are not dangerous. You can see what they are going to do, or rather what they are not going to do, and act accordingly. It is the man who turns to the left when you start the same way or to the right when you expect him to go to the left who causes the real danger.

For too often motor vehicles especially pass on the road at a rate of speed higher than is really safe. If both parties know what the other is going to do, however, there is no real danger, as a rule.

Most states have road laws, requiring slower animal drawn vehicles to give half the road to a following auto and that on the left side. Failure to do this is punishable by fine, and an accident resulting from failure to give the road when the following vehicle asks for it is chargeable to the driver of the vehicle refusing. There are many farmers who seem to have an inborn hatred for the man who drives an auto, and their delight is to send him into the ditch or hold him back and make him "eat their dust." The farmers ought to realize that the automobile men are doing more for them in the way of good roads than any other class, or than they can expect to have done in any other way, and should first learn what the road rules are and then observe them.—Wichita Eagle.

WIRELESS 60 YEARS AGO

James Bowman Lindsay, a Scotchman, began experimenting with electricity in 1820. In a few years he produced a "constant stream of light" which was admiration of scientists. He sent messages over wires and delivered many lectures on his "electric telegraph." In 1840 he invented a system of wireless telegraphy and submitted it to a public meeting, held at a public house, on April 12, 1855, said. The experiment removes all doubt of the practicality of Mr. Lindsay's invention and there is every reason to think that it will soon connect continents with continent, and island with island in one unbroken line of communication.

Lindsay's lectures were advertised under the title of "Telegraphing Without Wires," so that the familiar "wireless" itself was anticipated. But he was more than a scientific experimentalist. He projected a dictionary in 50 languages, and labored on it for a quarter of a century. It was too huge a task, and he left it unfinished. Lindsay is in an undischarged state only in manuscript. He also compiled with more success a set of astronomical tables for the use of chronologists.

Yet this astonishing man never enjoyed more than an income of $350 a year as a teacher until the eve of his death, when the prime minister granted him a pension of $500 "in recognition of his great learning and extraordinary attainments."—Chicago News.

KEEP STREET CARS HYGIENIC

Sooner or later, every city large enough to need street cars has to settle this question. Should or should not smoking be permitted on such cars? In all cars of the closed type—the most prevalent kind—when smoking is permitted it is usually limited to the front or rear platform. As passengers need to use both the rear and front platforms in boarding or leaving cars, the condition of these parts of the car is a matter that directly concerns the public health.

Where many cities have anti-spitting ordinances, these laws are, in the majority of instances, more honored in the breach than in the observance. As a result, the street car platforms where smoking is permitted become both an offense to the eye and a menace to health. Where smoking is allowed on the front platform and particularly in that part of car that has the front platform closed the motor man works from morning until night in a tobacco smoke impregnated atmosphere, while the passengers who leave the car by the front platform have to pass through this exasperation decorated "fume chamber."

When the question, "Shall smoking be abolished on street cars?" comes up for settlement with any city, there can be only one answer. From the point of view of hygiene and common cleanliness, to say nothing of the comfort of the majority, smoking on street cars is an indefensible nuisance.—Medical News.

MISS BEATRICE SUNOL, A MEMBER OF THE BAUGHER CLUB, WHICH WILL GIVE A DANCE FRIDAY EVENING AT MASONIC TEMPLE.—Hartsok Photo.

HERE has been no end of discussion over the spelling of the name of the new Sequoyah Club. The "h" at the end seems so superfluous and unfamiliar. One always refers to the big trees as the Sequoia groves, with no "h," and there is a Sequoia Club in San Francisco spelled without an "h" or "y." And in an age of simplified spelling, or efforts toward it, they've added letters to the new country club's name.

However, if one asks a director, there is a perfectly good explanation. They are using the original Indian spelling of the word.

That is, it's a perfectly good explanation if the Indians really spelled it that way. But did they?

It seems to be remembered that the Indians spelled very little before the pale face with his spelling book established district schools in their hunting grounds. They spelled with pictures, and afterward with hieroglyphics, according to an authority in Berkeley, and it isn't recorded that they had an "h" or "y" in their alphabet.

The truth of "Sequoyah" is that it was very likely the effort of some philological European doing his best to represent the sound of the word as the Indians said it.

In any event it was the original spelling and, with the "h" at the end, will adorn note paper and membership cards of the new club in the hills back of Elmhurst.

The links, by the way, are being cleared and rolled, and by October will be ready for play, though the clubhouse will not be completed until later.

Dennis Seales, who is president of the club, and the directors, who include Hugh Goodfellow, William Pierce Johnson, Fred Sherman and Philip Clay, have motored out in the past week to look over the grounds, and are enthusiastic about the progress.

The Sequoyah, with members from San Francisco, Oakland, Burlingame, San Mateo and Marin county, will be one of the most interesting country clubs in California.

WATCH YOUR EXPRESSION

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

It is a constant and interesting study to watch the expression taken on by both women and men in the earnest endeavor to accomplish a task, whether it be in the performance of some great speech or in the simple effort of dancing. It is most noticeable and diverting in dancing. Some take it so seriously you would judge, by looking at their faces, that they were positively ill or that some great tragedy was being enacted.

One extremely pretty young woman of my acquaintance becomes positively ugly when dancing the ordinary one-step. She draws down her eyebrows into deep furrows, tightens her lips together until they form a straight, hard line, and although she dances beautifully she looks while dancing as though she were going through agonies. Many men who dance well and persistently take on the appearance of suffering intense pain.

Be careful to smile when you are having a good time. There is time enough to look unpleasant when disagreeable duties appear to be performed, and even then a smile will help you over those irksome times far better than a scowl. Your face is an index to your feelings, if you will allow it to be. Self-consciousness often distorts a pretty face. Therefore cure your self-consciousness by being so earnest in what you set out to accomplish you forget all but the enjoyment of it. Above all, enjoy yourself and don't be ashamed or too blase to acknowledge it.

Dancing is charming exercise, and no one is too old to dance. I see some dancers who look positively ashamed of themselves. They probably are not, but you see, they are self-conscious and imagine that every one in the room is watching them. It is beautiful to see two sweet old people feeling so young and happy that they enjoy dancing. It surely is rejuvenating, and should be encouraged.

Remember: Dance and grow young, and express that happiness in your feet.

Lillian Russell

Can't Be Home for Dinner

By DORIS BLAKE.

THE first time that a husband telephones home that he can't be home for dinner is a very important occasion for the wives of some husbands. It is important in many ways. In the first place, it is possible that he has not been kept late at the office at all. This means in plain language that he is telling a lie and it may mean that his wife has right to accuse him of doing so. But a woman who is wise does not exercise all her rights.

HE CALLED ON ANOTHER GIRL

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 19 and have been keeping steady company with a young man the same age since last March. During this time he has missed about six Sunday evenings calling at which time, I learned, he was calling on a girl out of town. He told me this. He likes me and I love him. He expected me to be angry, but I couldn't. So, as I said, I really love him. I told him I wanted to continue as we had before, and I would consider myself not a sweetheart but a friend and second choice, with the understanding he was to continue to call on this other girl. My plan is that they will have a disagreement or perhaps she'll meet some other fellow she likes better; then I would naturally fall to be his first girl. This I thought, might happen as they live in different towns. Do you think that I am doing wrong to this? I am patiently waiting for a reply and hope I'll receive one soon through your column."—C. H. ## SCORE LEAP FROM BLAZING BUILDING

LODGERS ARE CAUGHT AS IN TRAP

Japanese Forced to Jump 30 Feet to Avoid Incineration in $10,000 Fire.

Driven by flames, raging in the rear of the building, to the front windows, and forced to leap thirty feet to a mattress held below to catch them, about thirty Japanese, lodged after 3:45, escaped death by the jump. Three women, also Japanese, also were saved. The building, occupied by the Matsunaga Employment Agency and rooming house, 324 Seventh street, and stores on each side of the office, was gutted. The damage is estimated at about $10,000.

Two men, leaping into the improvised life net, were injured. These are M. Mamami, age 46, and R. Razawa, age 45. The men fell to the ground from the mattress in which they were caught and sustained sprained ankles. Razawa has both limbs disabled as a result of the accident. They were rushed to the emergency hospital.

The fire started from a cause not determined by the firemen at about 3:30, and had gained considerable headway before it was noticed. Passersby, seeing flames in the windows, turned in an alarm and aroused the sleeping lodgers. A near panic ensued, until the mattress was brought and the occupants of the front rooms leaped to safety. Those in the rear of the building escaped by the stairs. There were about fifty men in the rooming house, which contained 32 rooms.

FRAME BUILDING.
The building, which was of frame construction, two stories in height, was occupied by several stores as well as the lodging house, which was last night crowded to its limit. The damage done to the building was considerable. Those of Sing Kee, crockery merchant, 319 Seventh street; the Kasuga drug store, 329 Seventh street; the employment agency and rooming house, 324 Seventh street, and the Amami Tailoring Company, 331 Seventh street. The drug store sustained the heaviest loss, the entire stock of chemicals and medicines being destroyed by fire and water. The other stores also were totally destroyed.

The lodging house consisted of thin partitions between rooms and these burned like paper, according to the firemen, it being almost impossible to make headway. The entire place was ablaze by the time the engines were called. Fire Chief Ral was in active charge of the fire fighters. While the firemen battled with the flames large crowds of Japanese stood in the street in their nightclothes watching the work. These were finally ordered from the scene by the police. The two injured Japanese, taken to the receiving hospital, declared that they were awakened by shouts from the street, and that the steps were beyond reach from the front rooms when they jumped. They declare that their weight proved too much for the "life net."

The mattress burst during the fire and caught fire with feathers, which, catching fire, caused a stifling smoke against which the firemen fought until a hose was brought to bear on the blaze. The police are investigating the cause of the blaze.

INVENTOR IS AMONG THE MISSING

Carl Ohlson, San Jose Capitalist, Disappears After Visit to Bay Cities.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Carl Ohlson, an inventor and capitalist of San Jose, left his wife and family on March 10, came here to consult his attorney and dropped from sight. His disappearance is shrouded in mystery and although he wrote a letter to his wife on the day he was last seen in which he appeared cheerful and happy, it is believed that he may have been plunged into despair by the fancied failure of his pet project.

Ohlson is the inventor of a United States mail box which has recently been remodeled to take care of the parcel post business. The Santa Clara valley and it was believed by himself and his friends that he would reap millions from his recent invention. He had had some difficulty in connection with the concern and believed that he was about to lose $35,000 worth of stock. On March 10 he came here and consulted with Attorney Hiram Casey with offices in the Hearst building.

He left Casey at 10 a. m. after explaining his fears regarding the loss of his stock. He told the lawyer that he intended going to visit Albert Albrecht, one of the directors of the Security Letter and Package Mail Box Company, 687 Market street. He did not reach there, but he did go to the Argonaut hotel, where he was stopping. There he wrote a letter to his wife in which he said he was going to Alameda and to visit a friend and business associate, Julius Rivers, at 519 Castro street. He was last seen writing in the lobby of the hotel at noon and from that moment has completely disappeared. Albrecht declares that he never visited his office. Rivers saw nothing of him and he did not return to consult with Casey as he had promised.

The missing man is described as six feet tall, 42 years old, weighing 210 pounds, with mustache and side whiskers.

Letters May Be Sent By the Parcel Post

WASHINGTON, March 17.—To further add to the popularity of the parcel post, Postmaster-General General Burleson today signed an order which will permit the attaching of a letter to a package when both bear their respective rates of postage and are addressed to the same individual. The sender of a communication with a parcel post package heretofore has been permitted to attach a letter to the package, but that it is often of the utmost importance that the sender of an article or merchandise write a letter concerning it and that, in order to avoid delay and facilitate the transaction of business, it is highly desirable that the package and communications be delivered at the same time. It was with this in mind that today's order was issued. The letter or communication, however, is not to be inclosed in the package, but is to be tied or otherwise securely fastened to the outside of such manner as to prevent its separation from the package. The new order is expected to enlarge considerably the parcel post service.

PREDICT RECORD FRUIT CROP IN STATE

CHERRIES TO RIPEN FORTNIGHT EARLIER

WITH THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE INDITING ODES TO THE SEASON, THE ABOVE SPRING POEM IS RESPECTFULLY CONTRIBUTED. THE PICTURE WAS TAKEN YESTERDAY BELOW MISSON SAN JOSE, OVERLOOKING A VERITABLE SEA OF BLOSSOMS. IT IS OFFERED AS PROOF THAT THE FRUIT CROP WILL BE A RECORD-BREAKER.

BLOSSOM TIME IN HOME COUNTY

Big Fruit Harvest for State Is Forecasted, This Season

It's blossom time in Alameda county. Not only does every indication in the fruit situation at present point to a record crop for California, but judging from the advanced stage of the fruit the season will open ten days earlier than normal and prices in the East will be high. Last season was considered an early one, when the first load of cherries was shipped May 7, but it is predicted by some of the leading fruit handlers that the first car will be sent out this year by the first of May. This depends, it is explained, upon the weather during the remainder of March and throughout April, but a comparison between the fruit March 15 of ordinary years and of 1914 shows the crop in every section from ten days to two weeks ahead of normal.

Taking into consideration conditions in the East, the outlook is very bright. During this time the rivalry between the fruit of the California and the fruit of the Eastern markets and the entrance of Eastern and Southern fruit into competition, high prices prevail, and the longer the situation continues the greater the profits for the local grower. This fruit has done considerable damage, overestimated, probably, but still considerable in Texas and Arkansas. Estimates have placed it as high as 75 per cent, but the actual returns will probably show close to a normal crop.

DISCUSS STRAWBERRY MARKET.
WALLA WALLA, Wash., March 17.—Representatives from Yakima, Kennewick, Spokane, Green Bluffs, Hood River and Milton-Freewater, the four general strawberry districts of the Northwest, met here yesterday to discuss marketing plans for the coming season. During the conference it was estimated that the North Pacific Fruit Distributors' would this year handle the following percentage and quantity of strawberries from these four districts:
Hood River—All of crop estimated at 150 carloads.
Yakima-Kennewick—From $5 to 90 per cent or 30,000 crates.
Spokane-Green Bluffs—50 or 75 carloads.
Milton-Freewater—65 per cent, or 100 carloads.

The growers also adopted the plan to block off the standard government pack and selected B. A. Perham of North Yakima as directing sales manager.

Judge G. D. W. Vroom of the New Jersey court of errors and appeals used only ten words to dispose of his estate, valued at $100,000. His will, filed in the office of the surrogate yesterday, is a single sentence. "I give all my property, whatsoever kind, to my wife."

STEFANSSON REPORTS BY MAIL

MACKENZIE DELTA EXPLORATION

OTTAWA, March 17.—Mails just received at Ottawa from the Royal mounted police stationed at Ft. MacPherson transmit letters to the naval department from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, written last January. Stefansson reports that the members of his party are all in good spirits and are conducting valuable exploration work in the Mackenzie delta, which has never before been accurately mapped. He refers to his projected sled trip over the ice of the Arctic ocean into the unknown region to the northeast of Herschel island. He says he expects to go at least 150 miles out in the Arctic, where no one has ever been, where there may be undiscovered islands. He gave no new information in regard to the Karikuk.

The naval department has notified the Arctic expedition that there is a possibility of the Karikuk drifting in the ice across the Arctic and that it may be three or four years before the crew of twenty-five, including five or six scientists, is again heard from.

The vessel is provisioned for five years at a pinch.

BOYS FIND BODY OF MURDERED MAN

Remains Partly Buried in Dense Growth; Fractured Skull

SEATTLE, March 17.—A murder, committed from three to five months ago, was revealed yesterday when two boys playing in the woods in the southeasterly part of the city discovered the body of a man partly buried in the dense growth. Investigation by the police disclosed a fracture of the skull with indications that it had been struck by a bullet. Search for marks of identification were futile, the body being badly decomposed. The identity of the two boys, Parker Harris, 14 years old, and Cyril Pemberton, 15 years old, was attributed by the police to the fact that they were playing. The man was well dressed at the time of his death. He wore a dark blue or black suit, tan shoes, rather worn and brown woolen socks. His hat was missing. In his coat pocket was found an envelope postmarked "Lindberg, Wash., October 13, 1913," and containing circulars of a mining company. The envelope was obtained from the desk of a hotel on Cornova street, Vancouver, B. C. The name of the hotel, and the address on the envelope were obliterated. The finding of a gold stick pin with a small emerald setting in the man's necktie, caused the police to believe that robbery was not the motive for the murder. The body apparently had been dragged some distance to the place where it was found, which was forty feet from the street and 200 feet from the nearest house. Because of the condition of the body it was difficult to judge the man's age, but the police thought he probably was about 30 years old.

WANTS $9000 DAMAGES.
James Foreman has commenced suit in the Superior Court asking $9000 damages from the Hunter Lumber Company and Dr. Louis Lohse for a of the injury. The Southwestern Lumber Company is also made a party to the action as the supplier of Dr. Lohse were brought in by the company. The plaintiff complains that his leg was not set for three weeks after the accident and that later it had to be rebroken. Later he had to undergo an operation for bone grafting with a total expense of $1500.

SEEK TAXI ROBBERS WHO KIDNAPED GIRL

Miss Stagna, Victim of Plot, Almost Prostrated at Home

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Katherine Stagna, the 17-year-old milliner girl who was bound and gagged by taxi-cab robbers last evening, was almost prostrated today at her home, 5 Douglas street, as the result of her experience.

The police are looking everywhere for the machine in which she was taken about the city and finally lying in a doorway in the fashionable Pacific Heights section.

The police are acting on the theory that robbery was the motive, as Miss Stagna's father, a painter for the United Railroads, is in the habit of keeping a large quantity of money and deeds at his home.

This morning Captain of Detectives Moore played the additional men on the case, and Sergeant Gorman, who had been charged with the duty of running down the chauffeur who stood by and watched the two men in their bold kidnapping scheme.

SEIZED BY EMPLOYER.
Miss Stagna is employed at a millinery shop at 247 Powell street. She left the car at Seventeenth and Market streets on her way home, when she noticed an automobile at the curb. A man asked her a question and she replied that she was not interested. He then seized her and threw her in the machine.

"Do you live in the yellow house on Douglas street?" asked a stranger who dressed himself of a false wig and mustache before her eyes.

"Where does your father keep his money and his deeds?" demanded the man.

BOUND AND GAGGED HER.
Miss Stagna would not reply, and despite every entreaty and threat of the man who had first approached her and his companion, when she could but dimly see in the shadows, she refused to give any information. Finally they tore up a ginham apron which they had, bound and gagged her and placed her in the doorway of the house of Benjamin Newman, 3175 Clay street. This was on the opposite side of the city from that where she had first encountered the stranger. She was observed by a passerby and the police notified.

BROKE LEG IN FLIGHT.
He narrowly escaped arrest in connection with some of his enterprises. Several years ago he went West, where he and the son of a former Secretary of State of the Panama republic promoted a land deal. He insists that the enterprise was honest, but he was indicted and arrested. He tried to escape, but was captured after he had broken a leg in flight.

Similar figure in Wall street and in the world. He was a lavish spender owned a racing stable and was one of the new figures of the day at the racetrack. He referred to his past in a book that he sent from jail last October entitled "Am I Inmate?" In that booklet he told of his sufferings in jail and demanded a trial.

LYMAN IS NOT WORRYING, HE DECLARES

Former Los Angeles Physician Whose Financial Deals Led to Trouble, Enjoys N. Y.

Dr. John Grant Lyman, whose financial dealings brought him trouble in California, and who, after going through bankruptcy proceedings, hastened to New York to the city of his birth, and luxurious life. He says he hasn't a nickel of his own—but he has a dress suit and a silk hat—and he should worry. He expects to make some money soon, and says he expects to make it honestly, for his reformed. Also he declares that he will pay back every cent he owes, some day.

The doctor is living at a fashionable hotel, and looks like a millionaire, although he swore he was a pauper. He declares this is because friends lent him money after his numerous troubles culminating in his arrest on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The doctor, whose connection with the International Zinc Company and plunging in Wall street made him famous, and who was held two years in the Los Angeles county jail, was recognized by a reporter who had known him in Oakland, and told his side of the story. He admits looking very prosperous for a man who had taken the pauper's oath—but declares that it's only because he credits is good, because he is a pauper's oath.

"Did you take a pauper's oath?" he was asked.
"Believe me, I surely did," he replied.
"Why, I haven't got a nickel to my name. I am my own. Every cent I have was lent to me by friends and I have splendid friends who think I am showing the right spirit and are sticking to me to the bitter end. But for a poor man I am getting along pretty well, don't you think?"

The reporter did, but he also had supposed that Lyman having been convicted was still in jail.

LETTER HIS UNDOING.
"I was found guilty solely on the sixth count, referring to a letter that was mailed after I had left my office in San Francisco and I was not in jail. I was released. The Court of Appeals has decided a case that insures a reversal of the judgment."

"But I am a different man from what I was ten or fifteen years ago. Do you think that a man can suffer as I have, go through the horrors that I did in jail and not be changed? I am changed."

"In those long months I saw things from a spiritual point of view. I have taken a broader and a deeper view of life and I am going to be a different man in the future."

"No more of the old life, no more of promotion schemes, horse races and all those gay things," he continued, as with a graceful gesture, he referred to his former career. "For twenty-five years I spent about $500,000 a year. I plunged in Wall Street. I thought nothing of having $15,000 or $20,000 on a horse race, but now I see nothing in those things. I would not walk across the street to see forty horse races."

HAD ALMOST MILLION.
"I was wealthy at one time. I had a bank balance of $500,000 and I was worth $1,000,000 at one time of being a millionaire, but it is all gone now."

"I am going into a mercantile business in Los Angeles and everything looks rosy. You see I have lost none of my old confidence, and with the backing that I have I am going to make money. No more stock promotions, for if anything happened people would blame me."

"The first thing I shall do," he said, as he removed his coat preparatory to donning an evening suit, "is to carry out my contracts in regard to the Panama land deal. I am not going to do it, but that is my duty and I have to do it, but that is my duty and I have to do it, but that is my duty and I have to do it."

Then according to the contract, the diamond pin he entered into a glowing description of the prospects of land owners in Panama with the opening of the canal. "I went into bankruptcy for $400,000 in Los Angeles and I am going to pay back every dollar," said Lyman. "None of my creditors shall suffer."

"With a friend I am engaged in union reform work in Los Angeles. We have bought a large tract of land, and we have worked out a plan that has got the endorsement of Sir Edmund Deneen of London and other experts on prison reform."

KNOWS PRISON LIFE.
"We plan to take there, with the consent of the courts, men convicted of minor offenses or men convicted of a felony for the first time, place them on their honor and give them a chance to work, to learn and to develop so that when they have finished their sentences they will not have to beat somebody on the head to get a bit of money."

"I know what prison life is and I know how it can degrade a body and take everything that is good and human out of him. I want to do something for these unfortunate people. No man who has endured what I have endured could feel otherwise."

Lyman was born in Phelps, N. Y., studied medicine and became a specialist in ear diseases. He invented an ear drum out of which he made money. He turned next to Wall street promoting various enterprises. He tried to escape, but was captured after he had broken a leg in flight.

Art Temperament in Business Causes Loss of $600,000

CHICAGO, March 17.—Too much artistic temperament and too little business judgment caused the loss of $600,000 and the financial ruin of the art firm of Moulton & Ricketts, according to a statement yesterday by expert accountants who finished an audit of the books of the firm. The report was presented by Michael Gessas, counsel for the receiver, at a hearing before a referee in bankruptcy.

"So far we have been unable to find any false entries, check kiting or any irregularities," was the report to the attorney. "As far as we can learn $600,000 melted away through the lack of any business system."

"Whenever the firm ran short of money a picture was sold at a discount. Then there was plenty of money for a while. Money seemed to come and go and cause as little interest as dust. Money was borrowed at usurious rates, notes were discounted at unusual discounts and valuable paintings were scattered

McMillan, 512 Eighth street, last night and stole clothing valued at $15. Reports were made to the police by Frank A. Ness, of Sixty-seventh street, and W. J. Hughes, of 1025 Ninth street, that burglars attempted to break into their homes during the night and failed to gain entrance.

KILLED BY TRAIN.
CHICAGO, March 17.—Walter S. Willard, general auditor of the Goodrich Transit Company, was killed today by an Aurora, Elgin & Chicago Interurban train in Oak Park. He was 55 years old.

CHURCH OF NAZARENE TO CONDUCT REVIVALS

A revival campaign under the auspices of the Church of the Nazarene will be opened in the local church April 5. Rev. Andrew Johnson of Kentucky to be the evangelist. The church membership, under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. Goodwin, has been actively preparing for this series of meetings for some time. On account of the limited size of the church Hamilton auditorium, 130 Jefferson street, has been secured for the meetings. Evangelist Johnson has been conducting revivals all over the country under the banner of the Nazarenes, and comes highly recommended, not only as an able speaker, but as a man who accomplishes much good. The revival will continue throughout the month of April.

QUARREL OVER WOMAN CAUSE OF STABBING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—Following a cutting affray, the details of which he refuses to reveal, Edward Leonard, a bookkeeper, 24 years old, was arrested by the police, together with two companions, and is in the city prison. Leonard is suffering from a severe stab wound in the chest and two ugly cuts on the hand, as a result of the encounter.

It is understood that the cutting was due to a quarrel over a young woman and was caused by a jealous attachment by one of a group of young men, but this the police are unable to confirm.

The fight occurred at Twenty-first and Capp streets, at 1:30 a. m. When the police arrived Leonard was lying dazed on the pavement and he rushed him to the office of Dr. Paxon, who dressed his injury. On the way to the Mission station Leonard tore the bandages from his wound and had to be taken to the Mission hospital for further treatment. His refusal to give any information to the officers led to the arrest of his companions, George Godfrey and Joseph Lynch, both of whom he claims are innocent of wrongdoing. All three are charged with disturbing the peace.

RAILROAD IS GOOD TO BOY MUSICIANS

The San Francisco-Oakland Terminus Railway played the role of the Good Samaritan yesterday, when the company furnished tickets to a band of wandering minstrels and their manager, from Twenty-eighth and Telegraph avenue to Berkeley. The players numbered twenty, and are the financial backbone of a self-supporting Children's Home in Des Moines, Washington.

The Home is unique. It is the private estate of a childless philanthropic couple, who care for, educate and launch on the world orphans and dependables children, to the number of fifty-two, the capacity of the estate. Here the children are fed, clothed and taught some trades and upon reaching the age of maturity are sent into the world, fully equipped to care for themselves. But when finances run low, the manager takes his band of twenty musicians on a concert tour.

Yesterday, however, unseen difficulties arose, and it was only after Mrs. C. A. Rice of the Rice Institute told of their misfortunes at the headquarters of the traction company that they managed to get to Berkeley in time to fill their engagement.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity So Says Eminent Specialist

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably ninety cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heart-burn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnecessary, but causes most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as
